SACKETS HARBOR BATTLEFIELD AND THE ALLIANCE

The Sackets Harbor Battlefield State Historic Site is a cultural heritage site in northern New York State. Operated by the Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation, it is the only state historic site located in the Thousand Islands Parks Region. State operated since 1967, the site encompasses 31 acres with ten structures on site and the nearby former Union Hotel.

The story of the site, from the War of 1812 through the 1950's, tells of a strategic military presence on these grounds. From the largest U. S. navy fleet to sail during the War of 1812 to the first U. S. naval station commanded by a woman, the Sackets Harbor Battlefield State Historic Site boasts a long and fascinating history.

However, preservation of this cultural heritage site comes at a price:

- The price to maintain the grounds, memorial tree grove, stone wall and the historic and modern structures.

- The price to staff the site's interpretive programming and publishing efforts, and
- The price to promote this historic treasure on the eastern shore of Lake Ontario.

This is why your support is so important. We need your help in celebrating and commemorating the historical events that occurred on these grounds. Help us make the past relevant to our lives today and for future generations.

What better way to celebrate our heritage than by becoming a member of the Sackets Harbor Battlefield State Historic Site's partner, the Battlefield Alliance?

The Alliance was incorporated as a not-for-profit educational corporation in 2003 joining other groups that support New York State's 37 historic sites.

Your tax-deductible contribution will assist the Battlefield's educational activities in many ways. The Alliance's publishing program, begun in 2003, presents the history of the site through printed brochures and booklets. Your membership will help support this publishing program.

You will also help sustain the site's living history programs that reach far and wide throughout northern New York.

Your membership will help with our plans to host conferences and other activities to commemorate the forthcoming 200th anniversary of the War of 1812.

On site, stories of the early and mid-nineteenth century are told to visitors at the War of 1812 living history encampment or in the Civil War era Commandant's and Lieutenant's Houses.

Off site, interpreters bring the story of the men and women of the War of 1812 to schools, senior centers, and other locations around the region.

These endeavors and many more will benefit from your support. Become a member today and help us celebrate and commemorate!
